August 17, 2016 (Camp Hill, PA)—Camp Hill Little League Challenger Baseball is releasing its list of contributors to the program's 2016 Little League Baseball® World Series fundraising drive, with gratitude for the contributions that are making it possible for the program to send its 65 plus players and their families to Williamsport at no cost to players, families and "buddies."

One of only two leagues chosen from more than 1,000 programs worldwide, Camp Hill Little League Challenger Baseball will participate in the 2016 Little League Challenger Division® Exhibition Game, which will kick off Championship Weekend in Williamsport later this month.

Camp Hill Little League Challenger Baseball has received contributions of all sizes, from corporations, local businesses, organizations and local little leagues to school districts, athletic programs, individuals and more. Since the program began its fundraising effort in 2015, more than $100,000 has been received, including more than $8,600 in GoFundMe contributions.

The Little League Baseball World Series Challenger exhibition game has been a part of the Little League Baseball World Series schedule since 2001.

Little League International established the Challenger Division in 1989 to enable boys and girls with physical and mental challenges to participate in a non-competitive baseball program along with the millions of other children who play baseball worldwide.

Camp Hill Little League Challenger Baseball is deeply appreciative of the local community support and especially presenting sponsor PinnacleHealth Systems' contribution. Other generous sponsors include Select Medical, HMC-Children's Hospital, Sheetz, the Mechanicsburg Club, Enola and Mechanicsburg American Legion Posts, Greater Harrisburg Autism Society, Vibra Healthcare, Cumberland Valley Association of Baseball Umpires and Mr. Gary Rini's Guys Night Out. Media sponsors include HAAS Printing Co. Inc., the Harrisburg Senators, Video Café Productions and VIS+ CUL creative.

Camp Hill Little League Challenger Baseball's 2016 Little League Baseball World Series Challenger Exhibition Game Planning Committee, including director and head coach Tony Fowler, express their gratitude to the South Central Pennsylvania community for supporting the program and its players.

"Their help in supporting the program's fundraising goal is invaluable. Their generosity has enhanced our experience, enabling the program to send all its players to the game," said Fowler.
